Criminal

Appeals

HKSAR v LEE (D4) (CACC239/2011) – (Conspiracy to Defraud)

Appeals against conviction and sentencing review by the prosecution. Acting for the 4th Appellant (led by Mr Edwin CHOY, SC) at the appeal hearing. At the material time, the 4th Appellant was an employee of Gransing. Legal issues include whether the placing arrangement between Convoy, Gransing, and Convoy Securities involved connected persons, connected transactions, or fraudulent transactions and whether Convoy has any disclosure obligations under the Listing Rules. The Court of Appeal noted that the placing arrangement between Convoy, Gransing, and Convoy Securities was not a sham transaction and the prosecution could not prove that they had fraudulent intent. The Court of Appeal held that the agreement between Convoy and Gransing was legal and valid and that there was no substantive agreement between the 1st Defendant and Gransing, so the prosecution's allegations were not substantiated, and the 4th Appellant's appeal was allowed.

HKSAR v Lin (HCMA 15/2022) - (Forgery, Using a false instrument, Making a false representation to an Immigration)

Karen represented the Appellant in an appeal that overturned his conviction and sentence, with the key issue being the admissibility of fresh evidence including a psychiatric report and medical reports from Mainland China, resulting in a retrial being ordered.

HKSAR v Chan (CACC 60/2022) - (S.17 Wounding with intent, Common Assault)

Acting for the appellant (led by Mr Selwyn Yu, SC). The appellant was sentenced to 14 and a half years imprisonment for biting off the left ear of then-District Councillor Chiu Ka-yin and assaulting three other passers-by during the 2019 anti-extradition protests. One of the legal issues included the amount of civil claims in the original judgment amounting to $3.93 million, which was a rare amount of damages, and the appellant needed to sell his residence to pay this amount, showing his good faith and whether the sentence should be deducted. The Court of Appeal held that the trial judge should not have excluded the mitigating factor simply because the award was attributable to the appellant, and therefore ruled that the appellant's appeal to sentence was allowed.

HKSAR v So (CACC 175/2019) [2021] HKCA 179, Reported in: [2021] 1 HKLRD 1215 - (Trafficking in Dangerous Drugs)

Karen acted for the Appellant in a successful appeal against the sentence. On the issue of whether this was a case deserving of an enhancement, and whether to add up the individual enhancements for a series of aggravating factors without applying the totality principle is appropriate.

HKSAR v Li (HCMA 617/2018) [2021] HKCFI 148 - (Fraud)

Karen appeared for the Appellant at trial and on appeal. His conviction was quashed on appeal with costs (including trial).

The ICAC prosecuted 10 former employees of two Japanese ramen shops for conspiracy to steal cash proceeds and accepting bribes, with Karen successfully representing D3, a part-time waitress who was acquitted after trial due to issues involving her alleged role in the crime and the interpretation of her video interview.

HKSAR v Li & others* (CACC 425/2015) - (Conspiracy to defraud)

Karen represented the 1st Appellant (led by Mr. K.M. Chong), the developer, for an appeal to the Court of Appeal. This is in an unprecedented case of prosecuting “tou ding” (套丁). The ICAC has charged the small house developer and 11 indigenous villagers with conspiracy to defraud the Lands Department and bribes, over a small house project in the New Territories.

HKSAR v Wong* (DCCC 1092/2017) - (Conspiracy for an agent to accept advantages, Conspiracy to defraud)

Karen represented the 1st defendant, a pharmaceutical sales representative, in a trial involving the Prevention of Bribery Ordinance, with issues related to principal/agent relationship, acceptance of an advantage, and whether the matters were in relation to the principal's affairs or business, due to the defendant purchasing drugs from his clients (doctors) and selling them to the second defendant (the pharmacy proprietor).

HKSAR v Tsang* (WKCC 2347/2017) - (Disclosing the identity of a person being investigated under s.30(1)(a) of the Prevention of Bribery Ordinance)

Karen represented the 3rd Defendant, who was the mother of the 1st Defendant, in a trial where the main issue was whether the mother's act of asking her son and disclosing about an ICAC investigation on the son's vehicle registration plates, fell within the definition of s.30(1)(a) of POBO.

Fraud and Money Laundering

HKSAR v CHAN* (D1) (DCCC 242/2019) – (Fraud)

The case involved financial investment fraud. Karen represented the 1st Defendant in the trial, and the issue in the case was whether the evidence provided by the prosecution was sufficient to prove that the 1st Defendant intended to induce the victim to invest or benefit from it. The court ultimately found that the evidence was insufficient to prove that the 1st Defendant had directly participated in the deceptive act during the material period, or had the subjective intent to deliberately deceive, and acquitted the 1st Defendant.
